INTRODUCTION

References for Selecting Learning Resources

Senior Years Family Studies Learning Resources: Annotated Bibliography: A Reference for Selecting Learning Resources is a reference tool provided by Manitoba Education, Citizenship and Youth to help educators select student and teacher learning resources that support Senior Years family studies programming in Manitoba. This compilation is intended to be used as a reference for selecting learning resources, along with the Manitoba Text Book Bureau Catalogue of Learning Resources, which provides ordering information and prices. The learning resources can also be purchased by visiting the online version of The Manitoba Text Book Bureau (MTBB) catalogue at <http://www.mtbb.mb.ca>.

Most of the learning resources are also available to Manitoba educators from the Instructional Resources Unit (IRU) library, whose online catalogue is available at <http://libcat.merlin.mb.ca>.

Organization

Multi-component resources have an overall annotation (describing the components and organization of the resource), followed by descriptions of the individual components. The title of each multi-component resource appears in blue type.

A sample resource description appears on page 8.

The Distributor Directory at the end of the bibliography provides an alphabetical listing of distributors, including their addresses.

Learning Resources Reviews

The learning resources listed in Senior Years Family Studies Learning Resources: Annotated Bibliography: A Reference for Selecting Learning Resources were reviewed for the purpose of identifying materials that support the family studies curriculum. Educators from across Manitoba participated in the reviews. All review participants were selected by Manitoba Education, Citizenship and Youth from superintendent nominations.

In February 2005, teams of teacher-evaluators from Manitoba schools examined the family studies learning resources submitted by publishers, producers, and distributors in response to a call for resources, and using a collaborative review process, made recommendations regarding the suitability of the resources.

Resource Selection Criteria

The selection of learning resources was based on the fidelity with the rationale, philosophy, processes, and learning outcomes identified in Senior Years Family Studies: Manitoba Curriculum Framework of Outcomes.

The learning resources in this annotated bibliography were selected according to the following criteria:

- Curriculum Fit/Content/Philosophy: Evaluators determined the suitability of each learning resource by considering the degree to which the content and processes of the resource align with the curriculum, thus providing support for teacher implementation. They also considered grade-appropriateness.
- Instructional Design: Evaluators determined the appropriateness of the resource in terms of instructional design, determining the degree to which the resource states instructional goals and learner outcomes, and addresses a variety of learning and teaching styles.
- Social Considerations: Evaluators determined the appropriateness of the resource in terms of social concerns. They considered the degree to which the resource is free of bias and stereotyping, includes Canadian content, and utilizes culturally diverse examples.
- Technical Design: Evaluators determined the appropriateness of the resource in terms of technical design, considering the degree to which the resource is visually interesting, appealing, and has a logical and consistent form.

When using this annotated bibliography to select learning and teaching resources, teachers should consider how the resource will meet the learning requirements of their students and the perspectives of the student population.

Information on a specific learning resource may be obtained from the descriptive information in this annotated bibliography, as well as from the supplier, published reviews, colleagues, and an examination of the resource.

Sensitive Content and Local Selection of Learning Resources: Although each resource listed in this bibliography has been reviewed by a team of Manitoba family studies teachers, schools/school divisions are advised to examine learning resources to ensure that appropriate resources are selected for use in the classroom and that local considerations around sensitive content are addressed.

Terms and Definitions

The following terms and definitions are used in this annotated bibliography to describe the learning resources:

- Breadth: identifies student learning resources that address a wide range of topics (with the highest possible level of fidelity with the curriculum framework) for a particular grade.

- Depth: identifies student learning resources (with the highest possible level of fidelity with the curriculum framework) that provide especially effective learning experiences for a particular grouping of student learning outcomes.
- Breadth and Depth: identifies comprehensive learning resources that provide both breadth and depth dimensions for a particular grouping of student learning outcomes.
- Multi-component Resource: multi-component and/or multi-grade resources which may or may not include a teacher resource. The titles are listed in blue type.

Resource Description: Definitions

The following information is provided for each learning and teaching resource (as applicable):

- Annotation: provides an overall description of the resource. Brief annotations of individual components and/or groups of components are also provided.
- Author(s): refers to the author(s), editor(s), or director(s) of the resource. When a resource has more than two authors/editors, only the first name is cited, followed by "et al."
- Collation: specifies the number of pages of the resource.
- Distributor: is in parentheses following the publisher or producer. The full addresses, fax numbers, and telephone numbers of these companies are given in the Distributor Directory.
- Media Designation: refers to resource categories, such as print, software, or video.
- Suggested Use: indicates the grade(s) and General Learning Outcome(s) (GLOs)/ strand(s)/topic(s) for which the resource is most suitable and identifies the resource designation. Resource designation refers to classifications such as the following:
  - — student breadth, depth, or breadth and depth
  - — teacher professional reference
  - — teacher reference

  The resource designation for a multi-component resource applies to the resource as a whole. Please note, for example, that a multi-component resource may be designated as student depth and breadth and as teacher reference. This indicates that the audience for the resource is students, but the resource also includes teacher support material.
- System Requirements: specifies the system requirements needed to operate the software resource successfully. Abbreviations used: MB—megabyte; RAM—random-access memory.
- Title: refers to the name of the resource. All titles are listed in alphabetical order.
